

The Healing of the Paralytic, Mark 2, a mad lib

Jesus went to the town of _____.

(word starting with "C")

When the _____ heard that he was there, they all came to hear him and there wasn't

(something alive, plural)

room even outside the _____.

(noun)

(noun)

_____ men came, carrying their friend, who was _____.

(a number)

(an adjective)

They couldn't reach Jesus through the crowd, so they went up to the _____ and made a hole

(something high up)

in it and lowered their friend on the _____ he was lying on.

(a noun)

When Jesus saw their _____ he told the man that his _____ were

(a noun)

(a noun, plural)

forgiven.

Some teachers of the _____ were there and they thought to themselves that only

(a noun)

_____ could forgive _____.

(something alive)

(a noun, plural)

Jesus knew what they were thinking in their _____.

(a body part, plural)

So he asked them if it was easier to say that the man's _____ were forgiven or to tell him to get up, take his _____ and _____.

(a noun, plural)

(a noun)

(an action verb)

Jesus wanted them to know that the Son of _____ had authority to forgive

(something alive)

_____.

(a noun, plural)

So he told the man to pick up his _____ and go _____.

(a noun)

(a place)

The people were amazed and they _____ God!

(an action verb, past tense)