

Luke 21, a mad lib

Jesus saw lots of _____ people putting _____ into the temple offering _____.
(adjective) (noun, plural) (noun, plural)

Then he saw a _____ widow putting in _____ small copper _____.
(adjective) (number) (noun, plural)

Jesus said she had put in the most, because she had put in everything she had.

Jesus' disciples talked about how the temple was covered with beautiful _____.
(noun, plural)

But Jesus said that it would all be torn down. They wanted to know what _____ would let them know this was about to happen. Jesus said they should be careful and pay attention.
(noun)

He said that _____ would fight each other and that there would be _____.
(noun, plural) (noun)

quakes. He said that people would be very _____.!
(emotion)

He also said that people would _____ the disciples and put them in _____.
(verb, something you can do to someone) (a building)

They would speak in front of _____ and _____, but that they didn't need to (occupation, plural) (occupation, plural) worry about what they would say. People would be upset, but not even a hair of their _____.
(body part)

would be hurt, and if they were strong, they would receive eternal _____.
(noun)

Jesus then talked about Jerusalem being destroyed, saying that the people should run to the

_____. It would be a horrible time, and Jerusalem would be taken over by the _____.
(noun, plural, something big) (noun, plural, something alive)

There would be signs in the sun, _____, and _____. People would be afraid.
(noun) (noun, plural)

And Jesus would come in a _____ with power and _____.
(noun) (noun)

Jesus said that they should look to the _____ tree, because just like they knew summer
(a food)

was close when it had _____, so the things he said would show them when God's (noun, plural)

_____ was near. He told them to be careful and keep watching so that they would be (noun)

ready when he came back.

Every day Jesus taught things like this at the _____.
(a building)