The Miracle in Cana, a mad lib

(noun) (a place) Mary, the of Jesus, went to the wedding along with Jesus and his (noun) disciples. (a number) The wedding party went on for and the people ate (a length of time, plural) (a food, plural) and and drank plenty of (another food, plural) (a liquid, something you can drink) After awhile, Mary saw that the wine was, and she told Jesus. (an adjective) At first, Jesus didn't want to and he told his mother that it wasn't his	One day there was a wedding in the	;	_ of Cana in	·
(noun) disciples. (a number) The wedding party went on for and the people ate (a length of time, plural) (a food, plural) and and drank plenty of (a liquid, something you can drink) After awhile, Mary saw that the wine was, and she told Jesus. (an adjective) At first, Jesus didn't want to and he told his mother that it wasn't his		(noun)	(a place)
disciples. (a number) The wedding party went on for and the people ate (a length of time, plural) (a food, plural) and and drank plenty of (a nother food, plural) (a liquid, something you can drink) After awhile, Mary saw that the wine was, and she told Jesus. (an adjective) At first, Jesus didn't want to and he told his mother that it wasn't his	Mary, the o	f Jesus, went to th	he wedding along with Jesu	s and his
(a number) The wedding party went on for and the people ate (a length of time, plural) (a food, plural) and and drank plenty of (a nother food, plural) (a liquid, something you can drink) After awhile, Mary saw that the wine was, and she told Jesus. (an adjective) At first, Jesus didn't want to and he told his mother that it wasn't his	(noun)
The wedding party went on for and the people ate (a length of time, plural) (a food, plural) and and drank plenty of (another food, plural) (a liquid, something you can drink) After awhile, Mary saw that the wine was, and she told Jesus. (an adjective) At first, Jesus didn't want to and he told his mother that it wasn't his	disciple	S.
(a length of time, plural) (a food, plural) and and drank plenty of (another food, plural) (a liquid, something you can drink) After awhile, Mary saw that the wine was, and she told Jesus. (an adjective) At first, Jesus didn't want to and he told his mother that it wasn't his	(a number)
and and drank plenty of (another food, plural) (a liquid, something you can drink) After awhile, Mary saw that the wine was, and she told Jesus. (an adjective) At first, Jesus didn't want to and he told his mother that it wasn't his	The wedding party went on for		and the people ate
(another food, plural) (a liquid, something you can drink) After awhile, Mary saw that the wine was, and she told Jesus. (an adjective) At first, Jesus didn't want to and he told his mother that it wasn't his	(a	length of time, plural)		(a food, plural)
After awhile, Mary saw that the wine was, and she told Jesus. (an adjective) At first, Jesus didn't want to and he told his mother that it wasn't his	and and	drank plenty of
(an adjective) At first, Jesus didn't want to and he told his mother that it wasn't his	(another food, plural)		(a liquid, something you can drink)
At first, Jesus didn't want to and he told his mother that it wasn't his	After awhile, Mary saw that the wine	e was	, and she told	Jesus.
(verb, something a person can do) (noun)				. ,
Jesus saw jars and he asked the
(a number) (an adjective) (a material – something you can make things out of)
to fill them up to the top with	to fill them	up to the top with		·
(an occupation, plural) (a liquid)
They back and forth to the until they had the jars filled.	They back and	forth to the	until they	had the jars filled.
(action verb, something you can do, past tense) (noun)			,
Then Jesus told them to take some of what was in the jars to the in charge.	Then Jesus told them to take some	of what was in the		_ in charge.
(noun)
He drank some from a, but what he tasted was wine! He didn't know where the	He drank some from a	, but what h	he tasted was wine! He didr	i't know where the (noun)
wine had come from and he called over the bridegroom and told him that this wine was even	wine had come from and he called o	over the bridegroo	om and told him that this win	e was even than the wine they'd had at first.		hey'd had at first.
(an adjective ending in "er")
And so it was that Jesus performed his first and his disciples put their	And so it was that Jesus performed			s disciples put their
(noun) in him.	in him	(nour	1)
IN NIM.				